THE ASSASSINATION

Excitement Still Runs High and Likely to Continue for Some Time.

Both Houses of Parliament Adjourn With Appropriate Tributes to the Dead.

Arrest of the Driver of the Cab and Possibly One of the Assassins.

Verdict of the Jury of Inquest --Other Important News of the Crime.

Lady Frederick Cavendish.

(By Cable to the Sentinel.)

LONDON, May 8.—Lady Frederick Cavendish left London to-day for Chesham. Prior to her departure Gladstone called upon her to bid her farewell, and both were much overcome during the interview.

After Lady Frederick Cavendish had left here a telegram to her from the ladies' land league was received, expressing the hope that she did not believe the Irish people were sunk so low as to murder one who had brought a peace offering to Ireland.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

In the house of lords, Earl Granville moved adjournment until to-morrow. He delivered an eulogy on Lord Frederick Cavendish, who, he said, had suffered a shocking death, but a glorious one, for he had fallen in the service of his country.

Lord Salisbury seconded the motion. He remarked that though this was not an occasion for political observations, he had no doubt the course taken to-night would be only a prelude to stern and vigorous action. The house then adjourned.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Every part of the house of commons at the opening of the session was crowded this afternoon. At 4:20 Gladstone arose, and with great emotion and in a tremulous voice moved an adjournment of the house. He said the blackness of the crime and the horror it excited throughout the entire kingdom were unparalleled. In the murder of Burke, he said, they have been robbed of one of the ablest and most upright members of the civil service, but the hand of the assassin had come nearer home, and two of the noblest of hearts had ceased beating while full of hope and love for Ireland. As far as the government were concerned all previous arrangements must be recast. Thursday next he (Gladstone) would ask the house for leave to introduce a measure for the repression of crime in Ireland. He believed he would be assisted from all quarters of the house. On an early day he would introduce a measure for dealing with the question of arrears of rent.

Sir Stafford Northcote seconded the motion of Gladstone for adjournment. He promised the opposition would support the government in measures for the repression of crime. He considered the occasion too sad for more than a passing tribute of respect to the deceased.

Parnell expressed detestation of all Irishmen for the crime. He said he believed it was committed in order to frustrate his cause. He did not deny the government might be compelled to take steps to restore order in Ireland. He was of the opinion that the crime was the work of those to whom he had always been opposed.

Forster, who has just retired from the chief secretaryship of Ireland, and James Lawther, who held that office under the last conservative administration, eulogized under Secretary Burke for his unwearied diligence.

The house then adjourned until Thursday.

THE VERDICT.

The jury of inquest returned a verdict of wilful murder against some person or persons unknown.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

A man named Charles Moore has been arrested on suspicion at Mag-nouth. He had travelled, and stated he had intended to go Longford, but feeling ill he had taken a ticket for Mag-nouth. He almost fainted when arrested. He returned from America Friday last. He answers the description of one of the murderers, and has marks on his face. He was formerly in the army. Moore has been brought to Dublin for identification.

THE CABINET MEETING.

A large crowd gathered in Downing street while the cabinet meeting was in progress watching with great interest for any indication of action by the government. There will be another cabinet meeting to-morrow. There was also a great crowd outside the house of commons at the opening to-day. Messrs. Bright and Lord Selborne were received with mixed applause and groans. Gladstone was vigorously booed in the palace yard, as was also Bradlaugh, but Foster was cheered.

The bill which will be introduced in the house for the prevention of crime in Ireland will include clauses dealing with secret societies, and providing for the trial of agrarian offenses by special tribunals. Probably, also, in cases of outrages heavy fines in the shape of compensation will be imposed on the districts in which the crimes are committed. It is expected that if the bill does not interfere with personal liberty and the right of public meetings, the Irish members will not offer serious opposition.

ARREST OF THE CAB DRIVER.

DUBLIN, May 9.—An important arrest has just been made at Tuam, of a man believed to be the carman, who drove the assassins. He cannot account for himself. He gives the name, Cloonan, closely resembles the description circulated by the police. Orders have been issued to arrest all strangers and tramps unable to account for their movements within the last three days.

A Missouri Cyclone.

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—A dispatch from Warrenton, Mo., says a cyclone struck the Wesleyan college building at that place a few minutes after 12 o'clock last night, tearing down the east wall and part of the roof, which was carried half a mile away. Seven persons, who were sleeping in the building, had a narrow escape. The loss is estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000.

Disastrous Railroad Wrecks in Texas.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

CHICAGO, May 9.—A Dallas, Texas, special reports a disastrous wreck caused by a washout on the Waco branch of the Texas Central railway, on Sunday night. A freight train went through the bridge, killing the fireman and two brakemen and badly scalding the engineer and two other men. The point is remote and the railroad officials are reticent.

A little later the same evening there was another wreck on the same road, attended by the death of one man and the wounding of several others. This was also caused by washouts.

Killed in a quarrel.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 9.—A Baton Rouge special, says that J. C. Barum, a book keeper and manager of Mount Pleasant plantation, gave himself up stating that he had killed L. H. Weightman. The quarrel grew out of a dispute about a bill. Weightman struck Barum, (who has but one arm) thrice with a stick, when Barum fired killing him instantly.

Reunion of the Army of the Potomac.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

DETROIT, May 9.—Extensive preparations are in a state of great forwardness for the annual reunion of the army of the Potomac which takes place in this city, June 14 and 15. General Grant has written announcing his intention to be present with Mrs. Grant. Lieutenant General Sheridan has made a similar response to an invitation sent to him. Ex-President Hayes expressed a strong desire to be present and will, unless controlling engagements interpose. The secretary has ordered the United States steamer Michigan to be here to take such part as may be desired in the festivities of the occasion. Invitations have been sent to Generals Sherman and Hancock from whom replies have not yet been received. Governor Jerome and staff will be present and will welcome veterans in behalf of the state.

Freight Train Runs Into a River.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

CLEVELAND, May 9.—A Huron, Ohio, special states that last evening a locomotive and thirty cars of a Lake Shore freight train went through an open draw into the river. The engineer and fireman jumped and saved themselves. Nobody was killed. Loss to the railway company is estimated at $80,000. The draw was open to repair the bridge.

New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Shops.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

CHICAGO, May 9.—A private telegram received from New York last night states that contracts were executed yesterday for the location of the main construction and repair shops of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railway at Stony Island, South Chicago. The expenditure on works is to be half a million dollars.

A Mother Murders her Child.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

BOSTON, May 9.—Marie Konig, a German woman, this morning murdered her boy, August, five years old, cutting his throat with a case knife. She then cut the throat of her daughter Mary, aged thirteen. The wound was not fatal. Alfred, another son, has cuts in a dozen places, not fatal. Emil, a boy seventeen, years old, was also wounded. The woman is doubtless insane.

Fatal Railroad Collision.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

CONCORD, N. H., May 9.—A passenger train and cattle train on the Boston, Concord and Montreal road collided. William H. Abel, the inventor of the knitting machine, and Hiram Jones, a drover from Vermont, were killed. George Pebbles, engineer of the passenger train, was slightly injured. The other employees of both trains jumped and were unhurt. Both engines, together with several freight cars and the baggage car, were badly smashed. The passenger cars remained on the track and none of the occupants were injured.

An Inhuman Wife.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

CHICAGO, May 9.—A Holland, Mich., dispatch says that Jno. C. Newhouse, an old settler, died from hemorrhage of the brain, yesterday, aged seventy-seven. He was born in Troy, N. Y., and had been an active politician here. He was once worth half a million dollars, but lost a portion of it, and two years ago deeded the residue to his wife, who, according to a story told a Chicago Tribune reporter, treated him shamefully. After that, allowing him only three dollars and a half per week for expenses. Abused him frequently, gave him diminutive and unhealthy quarters, and refused him a pillow as he lay dying. Several prominent and reliable citizens and neighbors have confirmed this almost incredible story.

The Guiteau Case in Court.

(By Telegraph to the Sentinel.)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Argument upon the bill of exceptions in the Guiteau case began this morning, before the judges of the supreme court of this district sitting in banc. Chief Justice Carter presiding, and Justices MacArthur, Hagner and James.

Col. Corkhill and Davidge appeared for the government, and Reed for Guiteau. Reed after a brief opening, passed to the discussion of the question of jurisdiction of the court below, arguing that the crime was not indictable in this district, because the offense was not completed here, the mortal stroke having been given here, while death occurred in New Jersey. Chief Justice Harding, interrupted at one point to suggest that while murder was the killing of a person, crime could not be defined as murder until death occurred, yet the act of felony was completed when the murderer had finished with his victim.

Counsel proceeded to discuss the various authorities upon the subject of jurisdiction. In brief, counsel admitted that Guiteau might be indicted and (if found to be sane) convicted in this district of assault with intent to kill, but held that he could not be tried for murder.

At 1:30 the court took a recess until to-morrow.

Official Changes and Movements.

(By Cable to the Sentinel.)

LONDON, May 9.—It is stated that John Holmes, junior lord of the treasury, will succeed the late Lord Cavendish as secretary to the treasury. Herbert Gladstone is to succeed Holmes.

G. J. Holyoke received a grant of £100 pounds to go to America and report on co-operation.

A SUSCEPTIBLE WIDOW.

Mrs. Julia Hobbs, of New Haven, Taken in for $25 by a Smooth Tongued Rascal, Who Promises Marriage.

This afternoon, Mrs. Julia Hobbs, an elderly widow, visited the city and sought the legal advice of J. J. Jenkins, the attorney and other gentlemen. She tells a sad story of woman's confidence in a glibly deceiver, which is in substance as follows:

It appears that Mrs. Hobbs is a niece of John Johnson, the nephew of a soldier in the Mexican war of the same name, who drew a pension until his death, when the nephew continued to draw it. This story reached the ear of Robert Wilkinson, a fellow who has been in New Haven but hails from Michigan. Last week Wilkinson visited the widow, stated his name to be Wm. Roberts, and his business that of a United States detective. He drew from his pocket a subpoena stating that the widow was wanted in Washington as a witness in the case against Johnson, her uncle. Wilkinson alias Roberts asked her if she had money, intimating that things might be adjusted without trouble. She said she had a note for $150 and they came to the city where the swindler told her she must pay her expenses or else he should see the sheriff and have her locked up. The widow was unsophisticated but said she should stick by him. They then went to Antwerp where she sold the note for $150 for $125 cash which she gave to Roberts who had in the meantime grown sentimental and asked Mrs. Hobbs to marry him saying that he had a fine home in St. Louis and they would go there and forevermore be happy. From Antwerp, the fellow went to Toledo, the widow clinging to his coat tails with the tenacity of a burr. There he escaped from her long enough as he said to telegraph to Washington that he had his witness and for the pension authorities to come on and get her. In due season he claimed to have a telegram stating that the case was continued until the September term. He then left her with an affectionate parting stating that he would return to New Haven Saturday. Before leaving he got her to make to him a chattel mortgage on all her furniture. The "detective" ostensibly went on to Washington and the infatuated widow returned to her home at New Haven, where she learned that a gentleman of the village named the man in whom she trusted was not named Wilkinson but Roberts, was no government detective but a scamp.

Now she would be pleased to recover her money. Interviewed by a SENTINEL reporter, the susceptible Mrs. Hobbs would say nothing. We shouldn't think she would want to.

AT LAST.

Official Announcement that the Shops of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad are to be Located at Stony Point.

As will be seen by consulting a telegram on the first page, which was received by THE SENTINEL via the Associated Press, the announcement is conveyed from parties in New York to the officers of the road at Chicago, that the shops of the Nickel Plated line will be located at Stony Point, in South Chicago, thus affirming the prediction of THE SENTINEL that Mr. Howard would capture the prize. A SENTINEL reporter repeated the telegram to Hon. Wm. Fleming this morning, and questioned him as to its reliability. With reluctance and evident regret, Mr. Fleming said that the statement was true, inasmuch as he had received a letter from Vice President Brice stating that such a decision had been arrived at. Mr. Fleming did not feel disposed to say anything more on the subject, as he felt chagrined at the loss to the city of Fort Wayne of the shops. Repair shops, however, will be located in this city, and probably in the west end on the property offered by Mr. Fleming for main shops.

Just why the New York, Chicago and St. Louis road selected Stony Point as a shop site, cannot be determined. The place is mostly low, wet, uninhabited and barren. The choice was made, it is supposed, in accordance with the wishes of Wm. B. Howard and the Calumet Canal and Dock company, who are largely interested in real estate in that vicinity, out of which they expect to realize snug fortunes.

The loss of this enterprise should not discourage our citizens, but should stimulate them to assist the next best industrial feature that comes up. Several important railroads are headed this way. The Fort Wayne, Marion and Indianapolis, the Fort Wayne, Terre Haute and St. Louis and the Fort Wayne Markle and Brazil railroads are worthy of aid, even though they are not trunk lines, and it has been suggested by prominent citizens and heavy tax payers, that the $150,000 intended for the New York, Chicago and St. Louis road be divided among them according to their importance to the city. However if THE SENTINEL had its own way, the money would be donated for the building of gravel roads.

The loss of the trunk line shop is much to be regretted, but THE SENTINEL hoped for no better outcome, and was free to say so from time to time. Who to blame for the loss the people can judge.

Council meeting to night.

Dr. G. W. McCaskey went to Indianapolis last night.

Mike Fitzgibbon went home to Lafayette this afternoon.

Col. Wm. Rogers and family will spend June and July at Cedar Beach.

Last evening people sat upon verandas and enjoyed the balmy evening.

Gen. J. Lyon Hall, of La Crosse, Wis., is in the city, the guest of friends.

The republican papers are already wrangling over their republican criminal judge.

Mayer Graff's friends insist that he run for the legislature or the senate, as it suits him.

Wm. Wheeler, charged with stealing a coat from the street car barn, is on trial in the criminal court.

Sauer kraut ought to be plentiful next winter. Ad. Francis set out 1,000 cabbage plants yesterday morning.

Last evening two wagons laden with stone broke down on Calhoun street, each within half a block of the other.

From what we can learn, Mrs. S. J. Dalzell was justifiable in her actions last Friday, an account of which was published in this paper.

Jane Coombs, the well known actress, who has appeared here a number of times, has a date, the 17th. She will play "Camille."

Will Douglass went south on the Muncie yesterday in the interest of Keil Bros. Returning, he will sever his connection with the house.

Capt. E. B. Smith's candidacy for chief of police will have no opposition to-night. He has proven himself worthy to be entrusted with this trying and very responsible position.

Young women who wear $2 diamond ear rings it is noticed, select Calhoun street, between Berry and Main for an evening promenade. The electric light shows off paste gems to advantage.

This morning, F. W. Cook, a traveling man, narrowly escaped being run down by a Wabash train pulling out of the depot. The engine pilot was within an inch of him when he jumped from the track.

THE SENTINEL has said nothing against Mr. Henry Hilbrecht. We very calmly referred to the fact that H. M. Diehl will be elected chief of the fire department. Our senatorial neighbor should not sit so uneasily on his tripod.

The saloons were filled with candidates for various offices last night, who energetically engineered. In one place, a couple of aspirants for the same office met and would have slug each other but for mediative interference.

Mr. T. P. Keator of the Gazette will read a paper at the annual convention of the Northern Indiana Editorial association which assembles at Elkhart, June 8th and 9th. The subject is: "To what extent should the press support public business enterprises: educational, religion and party—without compensation."

Miss Mary L. Boag, for so many years with the old firm of Foster Bros., but lately with Root & Co., has accepted a position with Samuel M. Foster and will have charge of the silks and fine dress goods. Her many friends will be pleased to meet her once more in the position she has so long filled. The new firm opens tomorrow.

The Pennsylvania railroad company, either from motives of economy or philanthropy, has determined to give its baggage men a chance for their lives in cases of accident. Manholes are to be cut in the roof of the baggage and mail cars, through which an escape may be effected when the doors and passageways are blocked by trunks or freight.

In the circuit court Sarah J. Archibald, through her attorney, M. S. Philleary, has commenced proceedings for a divorce from Jacob Archibald, to whom she was married at Ossian, Wells county, in 1875. In 1876 a son was born to them, and Jacob, disliking to assume the responsibility of a family, skipped out and his wife don't know where he is. Hence she would be free to catch on again.

Fred Michaels & Co., who have for some time conducted a bucket shop at the Oster house, this morning discontinued business, owing, it is stated, to unlucky speculations. The field is now left clear to Harry Breisford, who will endeavor to secure an eligible location on the ground floor. Michaels & Co. are stated to be indebted to a local speculator. They may, however, resume business.

C. F. Lape returned yesterday from a trip to Peru.

Engine 360 left the Wabash shops yesterday after being thoroughly repaired.

The Misses Nellie and Hattie Angell, are expected home this evening from Brooklyn, N. Y.

Drs. W. H. Myers, H. V. Sweringer and J. S. Gregg are at Indianapolis attending a medical convention.

Officer John O'Connell should by all means be reappointed by the council. He has made an excellent officer.

Wm. F. Reiter, a very estimable gentleman residing in the Fifth ward, is a candidate for policeman. He expects to succeed Officer Wahrenburg.

Capt. d'Isay has sold for Mr. A. W. Seaver, now of Mansfield, O., his residence property on Griffith street to Fred. Fahlsing, the milkman, for $2,600 cash.

Charlie Jerman, the popular traveling man for Meyer Bros. & Co., sprained his ankle on the road yesterday and was obliged to come in. Mr. Cottingham went out in his place.

Mr. J. Q. Stratton informs us, that the trial of Squire Maybury, the negro, for the murder of O'Meara the tramp, will probably come up in the criminal court the first of next week.

Fred Meyer is an accomplished bicyclist and on pleasant evenings takes out his beautiful machine. He has a tasteful suit of blue, a copy of that used by the Gentlemen's Bicycle club of New York city.

One thousand and forty-six dog tags have been issued to date from the township trustee's office. Tags that are lost are duplicated, but lately few have been stolen as they are more firmly fixed to the collar.

A consultation, with closed doors, of prominent democrats of Indiana will be held at Indianapolis, May 18, and invitations have been received by a number of leading democrats in this city, signed by Hon. W. H. English.

Yesterday afternoon, two young men, well known, got into a fracas over a game of cards. One pulled a pocket knife and made a vicious lunge at the other but happily did not cut him. Later the youths made up over a couple of foaming lagers.

The friends of Martin Heigartner, the tailor, who is poor and ill, raffled a fine suit of clothes last night at $1 per head. Isaac Lauferty, the banker, took a ticket and was this morning notified that he might clothe himself in the latest style of fashionable spring garments.

August Zerulla, the crushed lawyer who stole lead pipe from W. L. Carnahan's new residence, was sent to jail for ninety days, fined $5 and disenfranchised one year. August will therefore be unable to electioneer for his friend, Mr. Peter Koshlenger, candidate for recorder.

Oliver Stanton and Rolla Dane, the young bill posters in the employ of Scott and Richard, have secured engagements with the paste brigade of Bachelor and Doris' circus. Col. Scott and Capt. Richards, will now have to doff their uniforms and go out under the cover of darkness, and themselves slap their paper on the dead walls.

Yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, John Johnson, whose arrest for bastardy was detailed in THE SENTINEL, had his preliminary examination before Squire Danton, of Perry township. He was bound over in the sum of $500, his father, Uriah Smith, a wealthy farmer of the township, becoming surety. The old gentleman expresses faith in his son's innocence and thinks the affair is a blackmailing scheme to extort money.

Trustee Gaffney has every day for two weeks past been visited by an old man who cannot speak a word of English. The old fellow walks in with a pompous air, lays down his cane, arranges his attire and produces a paper which states the date of his arrival in this country and gives his name as Francois Von Welles and his nativity as Belgium. He waits until the trustee or his clerk, Mr. Lankeau, reads the document and then, bowing, retires. No one seems to know the old fellow or where he lives, and as he cannot speak English or German, his wants are not comprehended.

As the hot weather approaches, the warm and weary workers of the city feel the need of a cool resort where with their friends they may drive out, quaff a glass of beer and return cool and invigorated and in a condition to recruit for the labors of the next day. THE SENTINEL has information to the effect that a gentleman of the city will fit up a summer garden on the plan of those which exist in many cities of this size and are well patronized. An orchestra will discourse music on pleasant evenings and a dancing platform will be erected. Occasionally there will be pyrotechnic displays. Full particulars will be published when the arrangements are completed.

J. W. Clayton, representing "Prof. Stephani, juggler and gift showman, is in the city.

Amos Walters to-day opened his new fruit and vegetable depot at No. 8 West Wayne street. His business will be only by the wholesale.

Judge Lowry and County Superintendent Hillegass are at Arcola to day where Judge Lowry will marry a young couple and attend to his congressional matters.

James E. Graham has formed a co-partnership in the real estate and insurance business with Mr. Sim Breideneustein, late with D. C. Fisher. The new firm will undoubtedly be successful.

We call attention to the announcement of Mr. Frank H. Wolke, as a candidate for county auditor. Mr. Wolke has been a life-long democrat and always worked for the success of the democratic party.

Andy Glutting might have been noticed leaving the city this morning seated on a buckboard and looking as though he was going to a real estate sale, at which he expected to make a fortune. That was not his mission, however, for he was en route to a festive barn raising.

J. D. Nuttman this morning formally resigned his position as president of the First National bank. To-morrow he leaves for California on an extended trip in search of recreation and health. Mr. O. A. Simons will act as president until the 24th, when he assumes the office under the new charter.

Low Clark was arrested by Marshal Falke for keeping a house of ill fame, and this morning appeared in court without arraignment, plead guilty and asked the mayor to assess his fine, which was made $20 and costs, amounting to $30.75. It should be said here that the mayor ordered the affavit filed, as the police have not seemed inclined to trouble Mr. Clark.

Officer Tom Doyle will be reappointed by the council to-night without opposition. This is certainly a mark of respect to Mr. Doyle who as an officer and a gentleman is a credit alike to the people of the Eighth ward and the city. As a policeman Mr. Doyle is second to none, and his faithful and unswerving devotion to duty under all circumstances has won for him the admiration of all.

Prof. Diehl, the well known musician of this city, last Sunday invited some twenty gentlemen to his house, who were entertained by the professor's artistic execution on the piano. Jay Phillips was present, and the professor delighted him by playing a lively polka, his own composition. Prof. Diehl has sent the music to a Boston house for publication, and on the title page is a dedication "To My Friend, Jay Phillips."

Seven months ago, a valuable dog belonging to D. B. Stroppe, of the Pittsburgh round house, disappeared, and the other day came home, lean, mangy, and altogether a disreputable looking cur. His dusty appearance led his owner to believe he had come a long distance. There was a tag on his collar marked No. 6. Investigation proved that this tag had been issued to Fisher, the butcher, who was seen, and on the animal's collar was also tag No. 6, so it is concluded that the tag is one issued by the trustee of some other township and Mr. Fisher is exculpated.

Yesterday afternoon, an old farmer stood near the market house with a load of wood which he had for sale. A thoughtless young countryman, standing by, caught a flying insect in his hand and thinking it an excellent joke, placed it in the old man's ear. The insect at once penetrated the ear stinging the old man as it wormed its way into his head. It soomed it of the old man were fearful and he danced about in agony. Finally unable to endure the excruciating pain he fainted and was conveyed to Loesch's drug store and a physician summoned who managed to extract the insect; otherwise the farmer would have been killed. We did not learn his name.

An evening sheet makes too much out of the fact that Judge Withers proposes to assign lawyers to defend pauper criminals instead of jobbing it out to one firm. There is no arrangement entered on the order book whereby one firm has the contract to defend paupers at a fixed sum since April 1881, when it expired. Since then the contract was a verbal one with the late Judge Borden. For reasons that are evidently those of justice, a pauper prisoner should have the right to select his own attorneys. The case of Maybury is one where the prisoner preferred the Messrs. Stratton to look after his case. Messrs. Colerick and Morris were assigned to defend McDowell, but it was not thought necessary by the evening sheet to howl about this. Judge Withers' course is regarded by the far general as most commendable.

ALLEN COUNTY EDUCATION.

The County Superintendent's Annual Report of the Enumeration of School Children.

Supt. Jerry Hillegass has according to law prepared the following report of the enumeration of persons in this county between the ages of six and twenty-one for the year ending April 30, 1882; also the number of children between ten and twenty-one years who cannot read or write. The report was mailed to-day to State Superintendent Bloss.

It will be seen from the figures that follow, that excepting the city always, Springfield township shows the largest enumeration of scholars of any and Jackson the smallest. There are no colored children in the township schools, but there are forty-eight in the city schools. Not a person in the township between the age of ten and twenty-one has been found by Superintendent Hillegass who cannot read and write, but the city shows thirteen.

Following is the report in figures showing the attendance at the county and city schools:

A Mis-spent Life.

John Curry, the young man sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Judge Withers, was taken to Michigan City to-day. Curry's people live in Utica, N. Y., and his father is a wealthy miller. Yesterday, the Rev. Mr. Miller visited the prisoner at the jail and had an affecting interview with the young man. Curry says he had a good home and advantages equal to those of any young man. He graduated at the Utica high school and his father intended to send him to Harvard to finish a classical course of education. However, Curry preferred to lounge about saloons, and other vicious resorts and fell into disreputable company. His downfall was rapid and from dissipation it was but a step to crime. He came west and knocked about until hunger and a maddening thirst for whisky impelled him to steal a coat. The poor fellow is ailing of consumption and it is probable that long before his sentence expires he will be laid in a felon's grave. The young fellow, thoroughly repentant, wept bitterly as he expressed a desire once more to look on the face of his aged mother.

Gilbert and Sullivan's Latest.

John Mohr, jr., thinks "Patience" is the best of Gilbert and Sullivan's operas. Mr. Mohr plays the various airs on the piano and their melody grows upon him with repetition. By the way, our citizens who heard "Patience" will be interested to know that Gilbert and Sullivan are at work on a new opera, to be called "The Fairy Curate," and is founded on one of Mr. Gilbert's famous "Bab" ballads as follows:

Once a fairy, light and airy,
Married with a mortal;
Men, however,
Never, never
Pass the fairy portal.
Slyly stealing, she to Ealing
Made a daily journey:
There she found him,
Clients around him—
(He was an attorney.)

The result of this strange union was a son named George, who became in due time a curate, who, being half a fairy, had the power of paying flying visits to his fairy mamma. One day, however, his bishop, popping in unexpectedly, finds George's mother, a la the fairy Rebecca, in wings and short petticoats, and assuming her to be a lady of the ballet, denounces her son, who, in his indignation at the insinuation, "changed religion, like a pigeon, and became a Mormon." The denouement is, of course, changed, and the story much elaborated in the new libretto; but the leading idea of the latter is identical with that of the ballad.
